Overview. In the Star Trek storylines, Section 31 exists outside Starfleet Intelligence's influence and deals with threats to Earth's and, later, the Federation's security. Its operating authority stems from a provision of the original Earth Starfleet charter—Article 14, Section 31, from which its name is derived—that makes allowances for "bending the rules" during times of extraordinary ...

Pinecone's second law: Assuming a tech level more advanced than near future (i.e. interstellar -or- extremely cheap interplanetary travel exists), there will exist no true warship which will not ALSO be capable of single-handedly exterminating an entire continent, be it via nukes, kinetics or handwavium bombs. Corollary: If you are able to intercept and kill another warship across a star system ...

Artwork by Mel Hunter (1959) As you probably already know, "strategy" refers to the science of successfully fighting an entire campaign or war, while "tactics" refers to the science of successfully fighting a single battle. Predictably some military strategy and tactics are general enough to apply to interplanetary combat, while others do not work at all in the space environment.

"The Soviets are our adversary. Our enemy is the Navy." In a perfect world, the various branches of a government (local, regional or central) should be able to cooperate and pull their resources together for the greater good. The world is not perfect. When it does not, one of the reasons usually is ...
